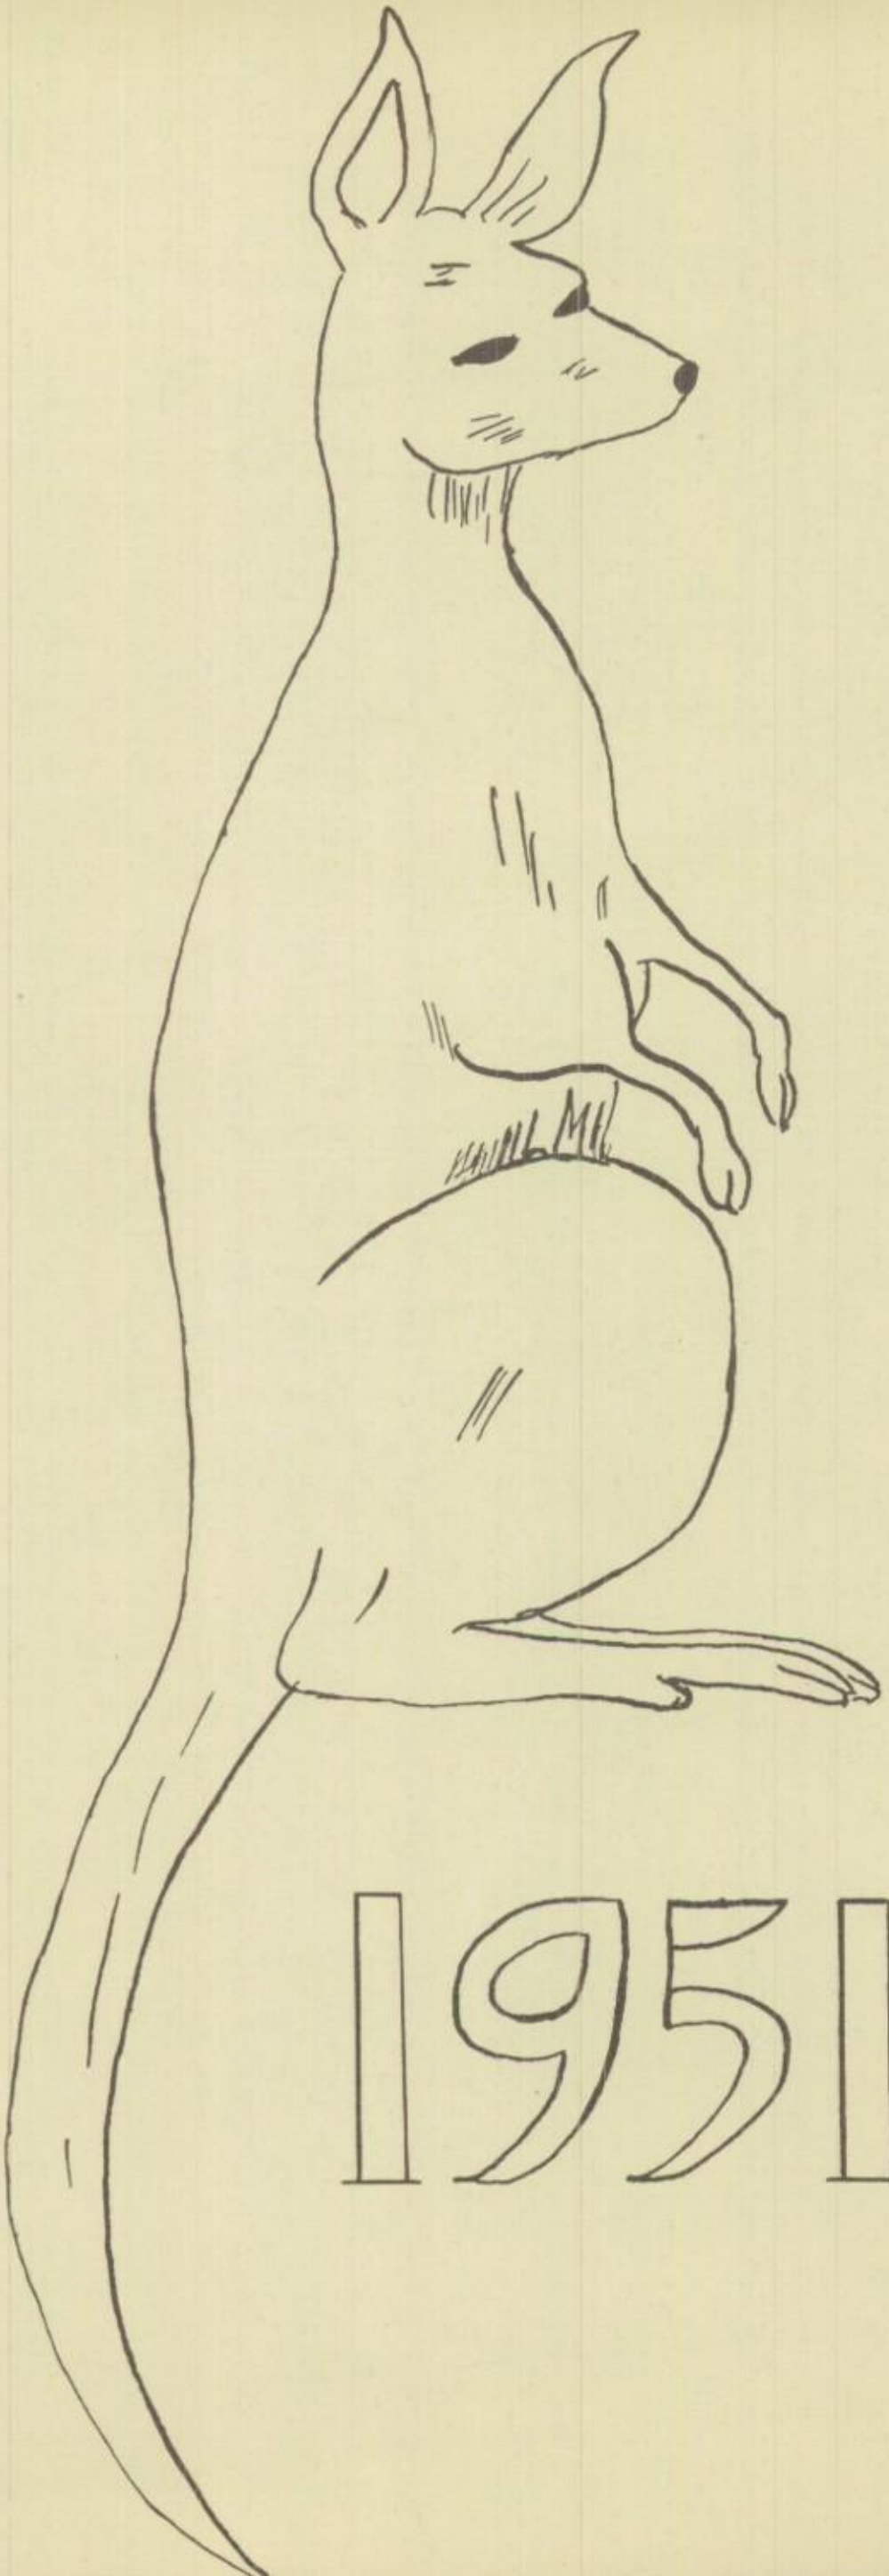
The KANGAROO

Lues Ulcera



KANGAROO

1951

Foreword

The theme of this year's Kangaroo is "What K. H. S. Means to Us." In striving to preserve the life and activities of the school year 1950-51, we present the work and the play of the students. We give you the FACULTY who are always willing to help us; the CLASSES portraying the students of our school; those charming and likable students chosen as FAVORITES; the ORGANIZATIONS revealing the outside activities of each student; and the Kangaroo sportsmen recognized in the SPORTS section.

We hope this book may recall to you many of the happy days when we all worked and played to maintain the true Kangaroo Spirit and the wholesome traditions of dear old K. H. S.

Miss Eugenia Fitzpatrick

Dedication

Because of our appreciation of her high ideals and of her never ending efforts to be helpful to all the students and the teachers, we lovingly dedicate this volume of "The Kangaroo" to Miss Eugenia Fitzpatrick.

Miss Genie has been our librarian since long before any of us got into high school. It was she who painstakingly and patiently taught us how to look in the library for the books or the information we needed and then if we failed to find it she willingly helped us.

Miss Genie, you have cheered our lives many times with your encouraging words and your manifest confidence in us. You have brought many flowers to brighten the library and make it a more pleasant place in which to sit and read. Now it is with great pleasure that we bestow upon you the nicest orchid we have, "The 1951 Kangaroo."

Pep Squad and Cheer Leaders

The pep squad was a very active group during football season. Seems like they were on the go all the time. On Tuesdays they had yell practice to learn new yells and to know the motions of the leaders. Then on Thursday they had a big pep rally downtown to advertise the games. When Fridays came they always went to the game where they did their best to support the football team.
